

Unveiling Opiorphin from Human Saliva

written by Saarani Vengadesen | 04/07/2021

A chemical compound known as opiorphin is isolated from human saliva, which is six times stronger than morphine. This finding paves its way towards the development of natural painkillers that relieves pain without the addictive and physiological side effects of the traditional drug.